

Good Cyber Hygiene

Certainly everyone with any connection to information technology and networked devices is concerned with cybersecurity. However, often we just miss the basics - we do not practice good cyber hygiene. While not intended to be comprehensive or state-of-the-art, here are some security basics (or as some call it, "cyber hygiene") that one should consider when developing [...]

The post Good Cyber Hygiene appeared first on SoftwareCPR.

FDA Reflects on National Cybersecurity Month

October is National Cybersecurity Month; for more information from FDA click the link.

The post FDA Reflects on National Cybersecurity Month appeared first on SoftwareCPR.

NIST Cybersecurity Framework v1-1

A draft of a new revision of the NIST Framework for Improving Critical Infrastructure Cybersecurity has been circulated for comment. This draft (NIST_cybersecurity_framework-v1-1) revision refines, clarifies, and enhances Version 1.0 issued in February 2014. This is a draft for comment. See copy of draft NIST Cybersecurity Framework v1-1

The post NIST Cybersecurity Framework v1-1 appeared first on SoftwareCPR.

